

Springer launches the new book series Sports Economics, Management and Policy

Series Editor: Dennis C. Coates

Springer and Series Editor, Dennis Coates, are pleased to announce the launch of a new book series in the fields of sports economics, management and policy.

Series Description The aim of this series is to provide academics, students, sports business executives, and policy makers with information and analysis on the cutting edge of sports economics, sport management, and public policy on sporting issues.

Volumes in this series can focus on individual sports, issues that cut across sports, issues unique to professional sports, or topics in amateur sports. Each volume will provide rigorous analysis with the purpose of advancing understanding of the sport and the sport business, improving decision making within the sport business and regarding policy toward sports, or both. Volumes may include any or all of the following: theoretical modelling and analysis, empirical investigations, or description and interpretation of institutions, policies, regulations, and law.

Series Editor Dennis Coates is a Professor of Economics at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County and is President of the North American Association of Sports Economists (NAASE). He has served on the Baltimore County Spending Affordability Committee and is on the editorial boards of Journal of Sport Management, Southern Economic Journal, Public Choice, International Journal of Sport Finance, Public Finance and Management, and Journal of Sports Economics. His published work ranges from voting behavior of legislators to the economic affects of stadiums and professional sports franchises.
